Our Mission and Vision

The IndyGo Foundation's mission is to help our community thrive by connecting people through accessible, equitable, and inclusive mobility solutions.

IndyGo Foundation's vision is to help everyone share in a growing economy and healthier city by enhancing mobility solutions for those who rely on it and those who would choose it – bringing together people, employers, neighborhoods, and investments.

Dear Community Member,

Together, IndyGo and IndyGo Foundation help create a city responsive to the transportation needs of Marion County's diverse riders. IndyGo Foundation is driven by its mission "to help our community thrive by connecting people through accessible, equitable, and inclusive mobility solutions." At its essence, IndyGo Foundation seeks to give as many riders as possible equitable and safe access to the IndyGo transit system. Our greater vision is to help everyone share in a growing economy and healthier city.

IndyGo Foundation is motivated to understand the diverse mobility needs throughout Marion County. Driven by its mission, the Foundation is uniquely positioned to create rapid change toward greater transportation access and equity. By working in step with IndyGo and community leaders, the Foundation acts as a force multiplier, convening partners and leveraging private investment in public infrastructure. Regardless of an individual's destination -- work, school, grocery store, healthcare appointment, or family visit – IndyGo Foundation's priority is eliminating the barriers that may keep riders from getting to where they want to go.

IndyGo Foundation supporters make a powerful public commitment. We have space for a robust slate of visionary funders, donors, and sponsors in 2023. Will you join us as a Partner or Sponsor? The enclosed materials share the benefits of supporting IndyGo Foundation's mission. We welcome the opportunity to have a personal conversation about your support.

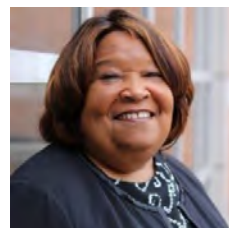

We invite you to get involved with IndyGo Foundation today. With your community investment in transportation equity – giving as many riders as possible equitable and safe access to the IndyGo transit system – you will be helping everyone share in our city's growing opportunity, economy, and vitality.

Thank you for being so considerate.

Moving forward together,

Transit Equity Day is a National Day of Action to promote equity in public transportation. It is celebrated on February 4, Rosa Parks' birthday.

Rosa Parks was born on February 4, 1913 and was a civil rights icon and activist. She refused when instructed to move to the back of a Montgomery, Alabama, city bus in 1955. While she was not the first to resist bus segregation, her defiance became an important symbol for the Civil Rights movement.

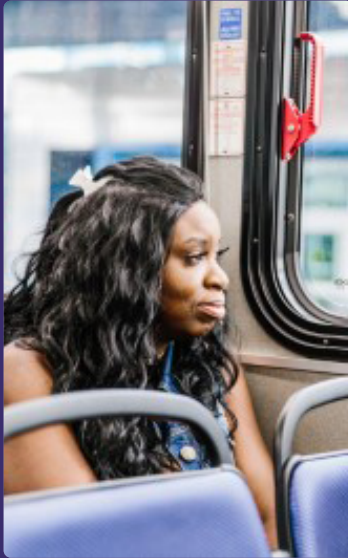

Equity is at the heart of the IndyGo Foundation's mission. We believe access to transportation is as essential as access to electricity and clean water. Transit connects people to jobs, healthcare, education, and to each other.

About the Cover: IndyGo Foundation sponsors free-fare service on IndyGo on February 4 in celebration of Transit Equity Day.

Planned IndyGo Routes with Social Vulnerability Indicator

The Mobility Access Fund focuses on increasing access to public transportation. When we talk about access to the transit system, we are referring to:

- PHYSICAL ACCESS – Riders need well-maintained ramps and sidewalks that create safe and secure connections to and from transit stops.
- ECONOMIC ACCESS – Riders need to be able to afford to get to their destination, regardless of income level.

We increase access by supporting discounts for Veterans, seniors, students, and people with disabilities. We provide resources to nonprofit organizations. And we invest in infrastructure ensuring bus stops are ADA-accessible. By addressing access, IndyGo Foundation helps to meet not only the needs of the riders but the needs of our entire community.

We all collectively depend on fellow citizens getting to and from their jobs. IndyGo riders are healthcare personnel, teachers, grocery store clerks, and hospitality workers, to name a few of the essential public transit riders. Mobility is much more than just moving riders. It's about getting riders to their hopes and dreams, to their education and careers, to their families and friends, to their health and well-being, and to another day of life in Indianapolis and the surrounding areas.

Every day, at least 30,000 people navigate Indianapolis without access to a vehicle. There is no other organization in Indianapolis dedicated to increasing access to public transportation. Join us today.

Bus Rapid Transit

- Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) is a high-quality, high-capacity service with fast, frequent, and reliable transportation to access jobs, food, education etc.
- The Red Line opened in 2019. The Purple Line is under construction, opening in 2024. The Blue Line is in the design phase.
- The Red and Purple BRT lines represent 52.2 miles of infrastructure improvements on some of the busiest corridors in Indianapolis.
- With 25.8 miles of sidewalk included in the projects, BRT improves pedestrian safety and accessibility on a large scale.
- The IndyGo Foundation has developed a comprehensive package for the Red and Purple lines naming sponsorship that includes 715 million annual impressions.
- Each of the 45 stations on the lines is available for sponsorship with an average of 8 million annual impressions. Sponsorships are $50,000 per station.

BRT Station Sponsor Benefit Highlights

- Supports the Mobility Access Fund
- Sponsor branding included on the glass panels of the sponsored station with additional customization available.
- Partnership announcements can include a press release, dedicated social media posts, and a ribbon-cutting event at the station.

Free Fare Days

IndyGo has been fare-free, system-wide, on select holidays for many years. Starting in 2022, the IndyGo Foundation began to seek sponsors for these free days and identify new days to bring attention to transit equity.

Free Fare Day Opportunities include:

- Martin Luther King Jr. Day
- Thanksgiving Day
- Christmas Day
- New Year's Eve
- Transit Equity Day – Sponsored by the IndyGo Foundation
- Election Day – Sponsored by AARP of Indiana

Sponsorship of a Free-Fare Day starts at $25,000 and provides:

- Proceeds to support The Mobility Access Fund
- Logo recognition for your company on all bus and bus station pay terminals on the sponsored day.
- Recognition as the sponsor of the fare-free day on IndyGo and Foundation social media and newsletters leading up to the day.
- Opportunity to issue a joint press release between your company, IndyGo, and the Foundation.
- Opportunity to display at the Julia Carson Transit Center on the sponsored day or a day leading up to it.
- Onboard bus announcements recognizing your sponsorship.
- Logo recognition in the donor listing on the Foundation's website and Annual Report.

Ways to Support the Mobility Access Fund

- Make an unrestricted contribution so we can direct funds to the most urgent needs.
- Sponsor a specific component of the Mobility Access Fund, such as free rides for veterans, students, and people with disabilities.
- Support infrastructure needs in neighborhoods of your choosing.
- Support direct resources to nonprofits.
- Conduct an employee-giving campaign.
- Sponsor a stop on a Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) Line

The Many Ways And The Many Community Partners that Support IndyGo Foundation

Infrastructure Improvements

"Transportation access for our community is critical, especially for those who rely on public transit options to and from work, healthcare appointments, and other daily tasks," said Adairius Gardner, Director of

Government Affairs, IU Health. "By providing the needed upgrades, these stops will allow riders to wait safely for buses and help those without financial means gain access to valuable transportation."

Nonprofit Bus Pass Grants And Discounts

"For 40 years, we have focused on increasing equitable access to transformational opportunities, with the goal of every person reaching their full potential," said Marianne Glick, chair of the Glick Family Foundation. "IndyGo Foundation and the other over thirty community organizations selected for grants are building community and creating opportunities that wouldn't exist otherwise. From protecting core civil rights, to connecting students to career coaching, and immersing children in the arts, these organizations are helping people access what they need for productive and meaningful lives."

Free and Discounted Rides Offered by IndyGo

"Without it (free rides for veterans), HVAF would spend over $70,000 a year to equip our veterans with the bus passes they need to travel throughout our city. We are thankfully able to redirect that funding to support direct service work." – Emily Hildebrand, CEO of HVAF (Helping Veterans and Families) Indiana.

Free Fare Days

"This partnership [with IndyGo Foundation] is just one piece of a sustained effort to make it easier to understand when, where, and how to vote," said

Addison Pollock, AARP Indiana Director of Community Engagement. "We're proud to partner with IndyGo to provide free fares to riders on Election Day."

Vaccination Incentives

"At Anthem Blue Cross and Blue Shield, we are dedicated to making the health care system simpler, like working with community partners to help make access to the COVID-19 vaccination widely available and convenient," said Dr. Kimberly Roop, Anthem Blue Cross and Blue Shield's Medicaid Plan President in Indiana. "Anthem is pleased to participate in this important public health outreach to increase the vaccination rate in Marion County." The pop-up vaccination clinic at the Carson Transit Center will conveniently connect those who ride IndyGo to the vaccine, making it easier for people on the go.
